Winter weather comes to Missouri

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A winter storm belted northeastern Missouri with heavy snow during the night, and bitterly cold weather gave the entire state an early touch of winter.

Seven inches of snow fell in the St. Louis area Monday night and the leading edge of the storm system dumped about 5 inches of snow earlier in the day at Hannibal and Kirksville to the north.

The snow in other areas of the state was generally 3 inches or less. The National Weather Service said there was a chance for more snow Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Winds in excess of 30 miles an hour during the night drifted the snow into deep banks and hampered road crews. Highways throughout the northeast part of the state were hazardous today, with a fresh cover of snow covering ice caused by earlier freezing rain in some areas.

Hannibal reported 4 to 5 inches of fresh snow Monday on top of 3 to 4 inches that had fallen previously. The city also recorded a record low of -1 for the date. The previous low was zero a year ago.

Schools throughout northeastern Missouri were closed today, including all public schools in St. Louis and most public schools in St. Louis County. Hannibal schools were closed for a second straight day. Schools in Kirksville were open, but classes in rural areas were closed.

Snow and icy road conditions also closed the schools in the Jefferson City area, and state employees were dismissed about an hour early Monday.

Lambert Airport in St. Louis reported lengthy delays during the storm Monday night, but takeoffs and landings were back to normal today. Police reported a rash of minor accidents and traffic tieups.

The wind-chill factor reached -35 at St. Louis during the night.

The weather service said a cold Canadian high pressure system was pushing southeastward through Missouri today, producing mostly sunny skies and cold temperatures. Highs today were expected to range from 10 to 15 in the northeast to the mid 20s in the south.

The weather service said lows tonight would range from near zero in the northeast to the teens in the south. Highs Wednesday were expected to be mostly in the 20s, and the weather service said there was a chance for more snow.

The extended outlook for Thursday through Saturday called for a chance of snow Thursday and early Friday and mostly sunny skies Saturday.

No injury accidents despite slick roads

Two inches of snow that fell Monday afternoon and night and early Tuesday morning left slick streets and roads, but no traffic accidents resulting in injuries were reported in Pettis County.

The season's first major snowfall started about midday Monday as flurries thickened into a heavy fall accompanied by winds and an overnight low temperature of 5 above zero. Police reported 10 minor accidents occurred as of midnight Monday, with no injuries recorded.

All public schools in Pettis County except LaMonte and Green Ridge were closed Tuesday because of the icy roads.

City workers started fighting the snow Monday afternoon and worked until 9 p.m. Monday. Salting operations resumed at 8 a.m. Tuesday. City snowplows and graders were also kept busy clearing and scraping streets. County Engineer Ed Hall's crews were also busy Tuesday removing snow off county blacktop roads.

County Western Judge Paul White said Tuesday county gravel roads "weren't in too bad of shape."

Franklin, Swope file for mayor

The city political season opened earlier than ever before Tuesday morning as John Swope, 612 East 11th, and Third Ward Councilman Carl Franklin, 640 East Ninth, both filed for the Democratic nomination for mayor.

The City Council Monday night authorized holding the city primary election Feb. 7 and the city general election April 4. The primary had to be held on Feb. 7, instead of sometime in March as was formerly the case, because of the new state election law. Under the law elections may only be held on certain days, and Feb. 7 is the closest date prior to the April 4 general election. The deadline for filing in the primary will be 5 p.m. Jan. 3.

In a written statement released Tuesday morning, Swope pledged to "cut down on the waste of our money...and trim a lot of fat off the budget" if elected. Swope criticized the authorization of $10,000 to purchase the Municipal Building mural and additional funds to illuminate the artwork.

This money, he contended, "could have been better spent on our old folks, in reduced cab fares, Meals on Wheels, the Community Center and other things of a more realistic nature."

Swope also urged the council to postpone employing an assistant to the mayor until after the election "because, if elected, I plan to be a working mayor. I see this move as another example of the waste of taxpayers' money."

Swope is retired from the Navy and moved to Sedalia, his home town, in 1970.

Franklin, who has been a Third Ward councilman since 1970, served as interim mayor during the summer of 1976 and was defeated by Hawkins in August, 1976.

Council debates closed meetings

By MAX ERKILETIAN
Staff Writer

The public's right to know versus a governmental body's desire for privacy came to a head between Monday night's pre-council and regular council sessions in what was billed as "an executive session with the news media invited."

The meeting centered on possible violations of the state's open meetings law by the council. Specifically, the session dealt with a Nov. 22 meeting.

First Ward Republican Robert Vit admitted he called that closed-door meeting in an effort to circumvent the open meetings law.

"To cover ourselves," said Vit, "we called it under the guise of the Sedalia Area Development Corporation, to avoid the sunshine law." Members of the Economic Development Board also were invited to the meeting.

Private corporations, such as the SADC, are exempted from the law.

The meeting was held at the Missouri State Bank to discuss solid waste problems at the city landfill and to establish an Industrial Development Council.

Vit said the meeting was closed because it involved city problems in disposing of waste from Rival Manufacturing Co., and he wanted to protect the company. The city earlier contracted with Rival to dispose of sludge created by the plant's water pollution equipment. However, the state has criticized the city for not properly covering this and other material at the municipal landfill.

Two members of the board refused to be part of the meeting because they felt it was being held in violation of the open meetings law.

Third Ward Democrat Carl Franklin said he left the meeting because members of the news media had not been notified that it would take place.

First Ward Democrat Gary Dey said he refused to attend the meeting for the same reason when told in advance by Jim Hamm, economic development director.

Several council members indicated that Hamm has sought meetings that may violate the open meetings law.

Dey said, "It comes to a point where you see that a certain personality is involved."

Later Dey said: "Mr. Hamm has put me in many situations I have felt uncomfortable with."

"We have so many meetings that are closed and damned near every time we get on to some subject that I have to say, 'Stop, you're bringing up something that (the media) is going to be on us about,'" said Franklin.

Several council members indicated that Hamm and Mayor Allen Hawkins were responsible for most of the closed-door sessions. Hawkins also attended the Nov. 22 meeting.

On several occasions a Democrat-Capital reporter has clashed with Hawkins and members of the council over the closed sessions. On one occa-

Sadat breaks ties with 5 Arab nations

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — President Anwar Sadat has defied Arab pressure to abandon his peace overtures to Israel and broken relations with the five nations that met in Tripoli to condemn him.

Four of the five so-called hardliners — Syria, Libya, Algeria and South Yemen — agreed in Tripoli Monday to "freeze" relations with Egypt and form a "confrontation front" against Sadat. But the Egyptian president took a harder line than they did and broke relations.

The break also extended to Iraq, which attended the Tripoli summit but refused to sign the final declaration because it wanted tougher action against Egypt.

Asked about the Palestine Liberation Organization, which also signed the Tripoli Declaration, a spokesman for the Egyptian Foreign Ministry replied: "The PLO is not a country." But the Egyptian government expelled three top Palestinian officials in Cairo and closed the Voice of Palestine radio station after the Palestinians called for Sadat's overthrow because of his trip to Jerusalem.

Committee to study city-county fire pact

Fourth Ward Republican Larry Stevenson's effort to bring the issue of mutual aid fire protection to a vote was thwarted Monday night when the necessary two-thirds vote failed to materialize.

Stevenson, who originated the proposal for mutual aid on the council floor last month, has said he favors the move, but will vote against it to follow the wishes of his constituents. The issue was tabled at Stevenson's request after union firefighters rallied against the move. Stevenson said he wanted the measure tabled to allow council members a chance to review it and learn the opinions of their constituents.

Mayor Allen Hawkins said he will name a committee to study the feasibility of establishing a mutual aid pact between the city and the Pettis County Fire Protection District. The study suggestion was made by Fourth Ward Democrat Ray Hendricks. Hendricks proposed the committee be made up of two members from both the council and County Court and six citizens, three Sedalians and three rural Pettis Countians.

Hawkins took the opportunity to criticize the union's opposition to the proposed pact.

"They didn't even know what the proposal was," Hawkins said. "They got up here and said we would be sending all the trucks out and that is wholly untrue and false. We would send one pumper out and that would be to save lives. It's nothing more than what we would do anyway. It's just if we get it in writing we can get credit for it (with the Insurance Service Office)." The ISO is the agency that inspects the city and its emergency facilities to establish insurance ratings.

ISO officials told representatives of the city that a mutual aid pact would help the city improve its insurance rating, thereby lowering insurance rates, according to members of the council.

Third Ward Democrat Russell Bellamy said part of the current opposition to mutual aid results from a lack of knowledge about what the proposal would mean. He suggested more information on the plan, once it is formalized.

In another move that is designed to improve the city's fire insurance rating, the council approved an ordinance updating uniformed codes for buildings and construction. Woodrow Garrison, building inspector, said the measure brought the city into line with state requirements. He said the regulations applied primarily to commercial construction.

The council rejected a request for $690 to send Bob Barbour, safety inspector, to a seminar on risk management and insurance. The seminar, to be held one week in late February and early March, will be conducted at the University of Arizona, Tucson.

Members of the council opposing the allocation said they felt too many programs not allowed in the city budget were being presented. Only Third Ward Democrat Carl Franklin and Fourth Ward Democrat Ray Hendricks favored the expenditure.

In mid-October, the council allocated up to $2,000 to hire University of Missouri-Columbia professor Dr. Robert Hershbarger to examine the city's insurance program. Barbour will assist Hershbarger in his research.

Hershbarger told the council when he was hired he would determine the adequacy of the city's insurance program. He will submit a report suggesting improvements, he said.

In other action, the council: — Approved a request for Kelsey-Hays to build a sewer line along its property

Preliminary approval to annexation request

The City Council unanimously approved plans to annex 10 acres in the Sedalia Industrial Airpark to the city following Monday's council session.

An official vote on the annexation will come at the Dec. 19 council meeting. The annexation can also be delayed if a formal protest is filed within seven days, according to City Counselor Robert Fritz.

Developer Russell Evans owns the property, which borders the Sedalia Municipal Airport's eastern edge. Part of the land fronts Highway 50.

Evans said he plans to subdivide the land and build duplexes.

Evans told the council he has purchased water lines to connect to the city's water system and plans to purchase sewer lines to connect to the city's sewer system.

City Engineer Robert Cunningham said Evans' plans meet city specifications. He said sewage from the area would be handled at the south treatment plant.

George Berenyi, chairman of the Planning and Zoning Commission, said he would like to have his panel review the proposal before it is given final approval.

Fun funeral

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Everyone had a good time at Hellen Fischer's wake, including Helen Fischer.

"I call it my fun-eral party," said Mrs. Fisher, 80, who planned and enjoyed her own wake Sunday with 150 family members and friends. She turned 80 on Monday.

"I decided I'll have the funeral now and when I do die, the family won't have to bother with it. I'll have a big party now while I can enjoy it," she said.

One of her two birthday cakes was in the shape of a coffin.

Politics ruled out

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Gen. Daniel "Chappie" James Jr., the nation's only black four-star general, says he has no intention of seeking political office in his home state of Florida when he retires next year.

James said Monday he has been approached by several Florida Democrats about running for office. "They have asked me if I would run with them for lieutenant governor," he said. "I thanked them for their confidence in me and I turned them down."

James, 57, suffered what he called a "non-disabling coronary" Sept. 20, and has been transferred to the Pentagon as a special assistant to the Air Force chief of staff.

Bells too loud

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — A city ordinance may force the Corpus Christi Catholic Church to tone down its bells.

Last Sunday, chief noise control officer Joe Zunich followed up on a citizen's complaint and measured church bells at 55 decibels. The city has an ordinance prohibiting evening and early morning noise levels exceeding 50 decibels.

Zunich turned the problem over to the city's legal office, and City Manager George Fellows says he will present the problem to the City Council.

'We didn't ask'

CHEBOYGAN, Mich. (AP) — State police who stopped a weaving car outside their headquarters in downtown Cheboygan had a surprise. The young man and woman inside the auto were nude.

Troopers charged Patrick Sullivan, 18, of Cheboygan, with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

The young man's 16-year-old female companion in the incident was charged with indecent exposure and public profanity. She was turned over to her parents pending a Probate Court juvenile hearing.

Asked why the two were nude, one trooper replied, "We didn't ask."

Strain too much

WASHINGTON (AP) — Muriel Humphrey, 65-year-old wife of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, is expected to remain at Washington Hospital Center for about a week to recover from exhaustion, a Humphrey aide said.

Betty South, Humphrey's press secretary, said Mrs. Humphrey is in the hospital for "a complete rest."

Nancy Solomonson, the Humphreys' daughter, said Mrs. Humphrey was suffering from "heavy exhaustion," which she attributed to Mrs. Humphrey's massive workload and recent gall bladder surgery.

Mrs. Humphrey had her gall bladder removed at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., last April.

Bond issues are approved in Owensville

OWENSVILLE, Mo. — Voters in the city of Owensville have approved two bond issues which will funnel $155,000 into the 26-acre industrial park on the city's north side.

By a vote of 148-63, the citizens approved $100,000 to go toward water and sewer development in the park. Voters also approved a $55,000 bond issue, by a vote of 151-61, to provide money for street development in the park.

The approved bonds are to finance Owensville's share of a $765,000 matching grant program to develop the city's park. City officials said the bonds will not be sold until the application for federal money is approved, however.

"Let's talk dry cleaning"

By CRAIG WHITE

Fur trim is "in" ... especially in fur collars. You'll find it today on women's most elegantly dressy holiday suits and coats, on men's dressy overcoats or topcoats, and even on those bulky jackets popular for football outings and winter sports.

These "mini-furs" deserve and need the same care and treatment as your finest fur coats and stoles to keep their softness and beauty. Since the jacket of the coat will require different cleaning and care, any time soil removal or renovation is needed, this is a job for the drycleaner.

Usually these suits or coats will not be cleaned often, unless you happen to get caught out in bad weather or have an accident. Once at the beginning and again at the end of the season is a practical solution.

As for those fur-trimmed holiday garments, now is the time to bring them in for our expert care and cleaning, so you'll be ready for the most festive occasion.

Cold weather helps farmers

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Missouri farmers were able to make progress on the harvest last week because colder temperatures at night hardened the soft soil, according to the Missouri Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

The reporting service said Monday that many farmers in north Missouri who have been kept out of their fields by wet weather, were able to get into the fields in the middle of the night and work until the ground thawed about midday.

The crop service said 2½ days were suitable for field work in Missouri last week.

Soil moisture supplies were surplus over 63 percent of the state, adequate in 36 percent of the fields and short in 1 percent.

The soybean harvest in Missouri is about 88 percent complete, which is about normal for this time of year, according to the service. The corn harvest was reported to be 84 percent complete and grain sorghum in the state was 91 percent harvested at the end of last week.

Because of the wet and frozen ground, the service said, winter wheat seeding may be halted with 72 percent of the originally intended acreage planted. Ninety-two percent of the wheat which has been seeded was listed in fair to good condition.

History of music boxes a short one but interest is reviving

Musical

"There is something about music boxes that stirs something inside all of us," said Laura McReynolds, Warrensburg. "And it has certainly stirred something in me."

Mrs. McReynolds spoke at the Monday meeting of Sorosis at the Heard Memorial Club House on "Music Boxes: Antique and Contemporary."

Saying that she doesn't have many boxes because of the great expense involved, Mrs. McReynolds said that the expense doesn't stop the interest.

"Music boxes are usually one of the first toys given to children, often in a stuffed toy," Mrs. McReynolds said. "And our older friends like music boxes because almost all of the tunes are sentimental."

"The fact that music boxes are often given for a special occasion adds to the value. When the tune is played it is associated with the giver and the occasion."

Mrs. McReynolds explained that the rise in nostalgia and renewed interest in antiques has caused a renewed interest in music boxes.

She then recounted the history of music boxes saying that the principle for developing the first boxes, the pinned cylinder, was first used to get clocks to strike at the proper time. This principle was then used to make musical clocks in about 1350.

Work continued on the principle to try to make the elements smaller, but according to Mrs. McReynolds this largely failed because the notes were too high pitched.

Mrs. McReynolds explained that in 1796 a Swiss watchman developed "tone teeth" which could be individually tuned by varying the length and thickness of the teeth. This solved the problem of the too-high pitch. Later others recognized other properties that could change the tune of the tone teeth including position and the material they were made of.

The pinned cylinder combined with the tone teeth gave the first music boxes.

There are three basic parts to a music box, according to Mrs. McReynolds. The note carrier or program is the cylinder or disc with pins or depressions to hit the sound source, the most important part of the system. The third part is the drive, or the force that moves the cylinder or disc.

"In most cases, the drive is a spring. Since the spring unwinds much faster when it is tightly wound than when it is almost unwound, something had to compensate to even the tempo," Mrs. McReynolds explained. "This is accomplished by little fans in the box that use wind resistance to slow down the boxes when the spring is tight."

About 1810 the first music boxes appeared. According to Mrs. McReynolds they were quite small and almost always put in something else from watch fobs to snuff boxes to clocks.

By the 1840s the boxes were in wide distribution and becoming more elaborate. "They were adding reed movements, percussion movements and anything else they could think of," Mrs. McReynolds said.

"One of the more successful elaborations was the addition of singing birds," she said. "The birds would flap their wings and jump from perch to perch."

In 1885 the disc boxes, those whose program is stamped into a metal disc, was developed. These boxes had the advantages of using cheaper discs that could be stamped out by machine and the discs could be changed to provide more songs.

"In 1878 the invention of the phonograph threw a monkey wrench into the music box business," she said. "At first the reproduction of music was poor, the idea of reproducing the human voice was a novelty.

"The popularity of music boxes lasted just about 50 years, that is until now when the interest has been revived."

Clean stained baby clothes

By POLLY CRAMER

Polly's problem

DEAR POLLY — Please tell me what to do to remove formula stains from baby's clothing that is made of cotton and polyester. Washing in the normal way and spraying such stains with stain remover does not help. — JUNE.

DEAR JUNE and SUSAN who asked the same question — This question was asked some time ago and we received many versions of practically the same method so will give you one of the more comprehensive answers. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — To remove formula stains from baby clothes put one gallon of very hot water in a plastic, enamel or stainless steel container. Do not use aluminum. Add one cup of an electric dishwasher compound and one-fourth cup bleach and stir well. I put my 100 percent white cotton garments in this and let them soak for half an hour and then wash as usual. I use one-half cup vinegar in the rinse water. The garments come out snow white. I have also used this for stained pillowcases and mattress covers that were yellow and badly soiled.

When using this for white uniforms that contain nylon, etc. do not put them in hot water as it sets the wrinkles. Pour hot water over the dishwasher compound granules and let it cool before adding the nylons. Do not stir while the clothes are soaking. (Some readers suggested that only a plastic or wooden spoon should be used when stirring granules in water.) Do not keep reusing the same mixture once it is discolored but pour it out and make up a fresh batch. This method was sent to a top chemist in Washington and he replied that they found this a most effective way to remove stains and whiten garments. In every case tested the fabric was either lightened or completely whitened. — MRS. D.M.

DEAR POLLY — I have a truly great help for mothers whose sons play football and wear white uniforms. I put full strength liquid detergent right on the soiled spots and brush with a soft scrub brush. This does not hurt the material and really get to all the dirt and stains. Throw in the washing machine and they come out looking beautiful. — JOYCE J.

DEAR POLLY — A helpful hint to know when we are trying to conserve water is that soap and detergent suds do not mix so with a large or small amount of detergent suds to dissolve quickly get rid of them by swishing a bar of soap through the suds and there is no need to run water for long periods of time. — MRS. R.B.O.

DEAR POLLY — I have an important and inexpensive Pointer for other plant lovers. Never throw away a disposable bathroom cup for if you are the kind of plant lover who likes to share or trade plants these disposable cups are excellent to use for transplanting plants and certainly less expensive than buying samil pots. Plastic margarine containers are also good for transplanting and transporting larger plants. — DEBBIE.

Polly will send you one of her signed thank-you newspaper coupon clippers if she uses your favorite Pointer, Peeve or Problem in her column. Write POLLY'S POINTERS in care of this newspaper.

sion, Franklin and Fourth Ward Republican Larry Stevenson refused to attend an executive session of the council that a reporter claimed was a violation of the open meetings law. They rejoined the meeting when it was opened to reporters.

Third Ward Democrat Russell Bellamy said he will "go right out the door" the next time a closed meeting appeared to violate the law. Several other council members indicated they would follow suit.

"One thing I've learned," said Vit, "is that it's foolish to have a closed-door meeting in Sedalia because it gets out anyway."

Addressing himself to the matter of public access in the regular council session, Vit pledged to "be more open."

adjacent to the northern city limits. The line will connect to the north treatment plant. The industry will pay all costs for the construction and installation.

— Established fees for bringing matters before three city panels dealing with zoning and building. The fees are as follows: $15 for Planning and Zoning Commission; $50 for the Zoning Board of Adjustment; and $25 for the Zoning Board of Appeals.

— Referred a bid for construction of a terminal at the Sedalia Airport to the airport board and the council's building and grounds committee. The bid of $54,836 from Borchers and Heimsoth, Cole Camp, was about $8,000 less than one from Dean Construction Co., which was rejected last month. Council members said at the time that the Dean bid was too high.

— Announced that the city's meter department will not give parking tickets Dec. 23 and 24. Officially the council is prohibited by law from declaring certain days for free parking as a Christmas observance. First Ward Republican Dr. Robert Vit said meter department personnel will be working on "equipment maintenance" during those days and will not give parking tickets.

— Accepted the resignation of First Ward Democrat Gary Dey from the Economic Development Board. Dey said his job prevented him from attending many of the panel's meetings. Second Ward Democrat Art Bethke was appointed to fill the position.

Miners' strike grounds half of U.S. production

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Half the nation's coal production ground to a halt today as the United Mine Workers union struck 1,800 mines to press demands for a wage increase, restored health and pension benefits and a right to strike over local grievances.

The last hope for averting the nationwide walkout died when contract talks between the UMW and the Bituminous Coal Operators Association were recessed Monday night in Washington.

The contract which covers about 130,000 of the union's miners, expired at 12:01 a.m. Tuesday.

The miners, who average $60 a day in wages, have asked for a "substantial wage increase" and also want the coal companies to refinance union health and pensions funds which have become depleted.

The union wants the new contract to restore a limited right-to-strike over local issues, while the operators want it to specify penalties against miners who take part in unauthorized strikes.

Thousands of miners, particularly those in Ohio and West Virginia, got an early jump on the strike by not showing up for work Monday.

Virtually all mines were closed in West

Virginia, Ohio, Virginia, Indiana and Illinois. All union mines, employing about 22,000 miners, were closed in Kentucky.

UMW mines in southwestern Pennsylvania, which employ about 30,000 miners, all shut down. Eastern Pennsylvania mines are also UMW but come another contract and were not expected to strike.

Only two Tennessee mines are represented by the UMW, and they were expected to strike today as well.

Union president Arnold Miller called the strike, although he said it "will bring hardships and human tragedy" to the miners. The union maintains no strike fund, and medical, retirement and death benefits for virtually all the union's 277,000 active and retired members stopped with the coal.

Some union miners said they would picket non-union sites to try to stop mining there. Virginia and Kentucky have substantial non-union mining.

Orie Hunt, president of a union local in eastern Kentucky's Pike County, said miners there plan to shut down all non-union mines in the area. "There's a lot of them and they know it's coming," Hunt said.

Another eastern Kentucky local union officer, Billy Bartley, said local members would probably meet today or Wednesday to decide whether to picket nonunion mines.

Privately, Miller has said he foresees a strike of three months, and sources say the coal industry is prepared to accept a work stoppage of at least a month.

Industry officials say utility plants and steel mills have laid in coal stockpiles large enough to last several weeks, and government officials have indicated a strike would not be the national problem it has been in years past.

In the West, individual contract negotiations have been under way between several companies and the UMW. In Wyoming, where there are three UMW locals, no strike was planned. Two of the locals have already come to terms with their companies, and the third was to vote today on a new contract proposal with Kemmerer Coal Co. That union represents 435 miners, who will strike at 11:59 p.m. today if the ratification vote fails.

In Montana, superintendent Larry Fox of the Peabody Coal Co. mine at Colstrip, the only Montana mine represented by the UMW, said his company was still negotiating with the union.

Four persons hurt in crash on Highway 52

COLE CAMP — Four persons were injured in a two-car crash about 1:45 p.m. Monday about 1.4 miles east of Route B on Highway 52 in Benton County.

George Stilabower, 57, Chillicothe, driver of a westbound pickup truck, and his wife, Madeline Stilabower, 56, were taken to Bothwell Hospital for treatment, as were Roy L. McKenzie, 71, Versailles, driver of an eastbound car, and a passenger in his car, Nellie Powers, 62, Gravois Mills.

According to the Highway Patrol, the accident occurred as McKenzie crested a hill and his car slid into the westbound lane, striking Stilabower's west-bound pickup nearly head-on.

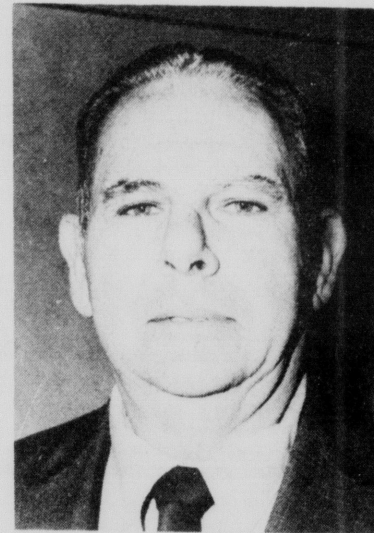

All of the injured, including Stilabower, who was treated and released, suffered bruises and lacerations. His wife was listed in good condition Tuesday morning at the hospital. McKenzie and Powers were also admitted. McKenzie suffered fractures to his ribs and sternum and was listed in stable condition. Powers suffered fractured ribs and injuries to her collar bone and wrist. She was listed in good condition.

Carl Franklin

John Swope

He said Tuesday he will continue to work toward securing additional suitable-paying jobs for local youngsters to encourage them to stay in Sedalia after graduation. He said he is also particularly interested in economic development and in insuring that future industries which locate in the city meet all necessary environmental standards.

Franklin said he will also work hard to see that Sedalia receives the maximum number of tax-supported services and programs funded by the state and federal government. While nothing that "we really don't always like to get tied to these kind of programs, it's our tax dollars that are paying for them. We might as well get our fair share of these dollars back."

The first campaign controversy arose Tuesday morning when Swope charged that Franklin unfairly gave his filing statement to City Counselor Robert Fritz, who in turn gave it to City Clerk Ralph Dedrick during Monday night's council meeting. Swope had hoped to have his name appear first on the ballot.

Dedrick said Tuesday that he told

Develop daily walking habit

Legislative committee debates powers of PSC

Dear Dr. Lamb — I would be interested in your comments on jogging, tennis, golf or other forms of exercise for a person with an irregular pulse and palpitation. I am a male, 60 years old, 5 feet 11, and weight 183, and have no other medical problems.

Other than a daily dose of Inderal, phenobarbital, and Lanoxin, I take no medication. My work is fairly sedentary, but I plan to retire in six months.

Dear Reader — It depends entirely upon what causes the palpitations or irregularities. If they occur in a healthy person, and a medical check up shows no problems, such an individual can develop an exercise program gradually.

You may be taking the Lanoxin to control irregularities, or you may be taking it because your doctor thinks your heart muscle needs strengthening. Since you require heart medicine, you should not engage in physical activity unless your own doctor approves of it. He will have additional information that will help in making the decision.

I would approve of your developing a daily walking habit. Start gradually if you have been sedentary, and try to build up to three miles a day. You can walk the distance in divided amounts rather than all at one time. I would not recommend jogging, tennis, or even golf until your doctor says it is O.K. for you.

When the heart is already overworked because of disease, it is not a good idea to work it even harder. That is why some people with heart disease have to restrict their physical activity. For the person who does not have such limitations, a sensible exercise program may help to forestall or even prevent heart disease. What is good for one is not good for all.

To give you more information on palpitations, I am sending you The Health Letter number 6-12, Heart Irregularities, Skipped Beats, Tachycardias. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10101.

Dear Dr. Lamb — So many women these days are plagued with facial hair. Can you enlighten us as to the cause, how to avoid it, what to do about it when it is excessive, and what part do synthetic hormones play in this embarrassing and agonizing problem?

Dear Reader — The two main factors involved are familial characteristics and the balance between male and female hormones. Men and women have both male and female hormones. The balance is what counts. In women, when the ovaries stop functioning, the adrenal gland remains as the main source for both male and female hormones.

Some women have a higher ratio of male hormones, which thickens the facial hairs. Additional female hormones often help, but when that is not a good idea for medical reasons or is otherwise not feasible, then the only thing left is to physically remove the hair. This can be accomplished by professional electrolysis. Your doctor can help you find a qualified one in your area. A dermatologist usually knows which ones are reputable in the community.

Of course you can pull them out — such — but they will come back whether you use a wax preparation or tweezers. And you can often improve your appearance by bleaching them. (NEA)

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Members of a joint legislative committee say they do not think the Missouri Public Service Commission should have the power to institute insulation standards for new homes.

It was that feeling that has prompted the Joint Committee on Administrative Rules to back legislation during the session beginning next month that prohibits the PSC for setting such standards for houses served by regulated utilities.

"The legislature never intended to give the Public Service Commission the authority to issue rules regulating the home construction industry," said Rep. Richard DeCoster, D-Canton, committee chairman.

But DeCoster along with other panel members including Republican Sen. Paul Bradshaw of Springfield agreed that a bill passed during this year's legislative session probably gave the PSC authority to issue its proposed insulation standards.

The committee, set up to review the impact of rules made by state agencies, also supported revision of a 1977 sales tax measure that was originally intended to reduce the tax burden on persons selling their used cars outright rather than using them as a trade-in on a new car.

In an attempt to encourage energy conservation, the Public Service Commission has proposed a rule prohibiting any utility it regulates from serving a home built after next July 1 if the house does not meet minimum insulation standards. Public hearings on the proposed rule have been scheduled for early next year.

"They've (the commissioners) got their hands full trying to regulate the utilities," DeCoster said. "If we let this thing go unchallenged, the next thing will be how many television sets you can have. There's a large number of things you can do to save energy."

The committee members objected primarily to the fact that insulation standards imposed by the PSC would apply only to homes served by utilities the commission itself regulates.

"We think it's questionable that they may or may not have the authority to do," Bradshaw said of the commission's proposed rule. "But if they do, we don't think it's advisable."

The panel designated DeCoster to appear before the PSC at the public hearings on the rule to voice the committee's opposition to the proposal.

Concerning the sales tax on automobile trade-ins, committee member Joseph Kenton, a House Democrat from Kansas City, said he would seek an attorney general's opinion to determine if the 1977 law is being interpreted properly by the state Revenue Department.

The legislature, in that law, intended that consumers who sell their cars outright and then purchase a new car within 30 days be required to pay sales tax only on the difference between the selling price of the used car and the price of the new one. Lawmakers also intended for the sales tax break if a new car is bought first and the used car then sold outright.

But the Revenue Department has interpreted the law to apply only to car dealers and not individuals and only in cases where the used car is sold before the new car is purchased. Committee members agreed that it appeared that was the way the 1977 law was actually written.

Kenton said he had talked informally with officials in the attorney general's office and been told the law could be interpreted the way lawmakers intended. But he said if a formal attorney general's opinion does not uphold that interpretation, a bill would be introduced in the upcoming legislative session to resolve the problem.

Interstate project is at a crossroads

Only about 10 percent of what has been called the greatest public works project in history—the 42,500-mile interstate highway system—is uncompleted. But those last few thousand miles are proving to be the hardest.

Most of the unfinished mileage is in the form of short stretches in urban areas which are designed to link already existing freeways, and which are the most costly—and in many cases, controversial—highways to build.

Last June, Transportation Secretary Brock Adams estimated that to complete the last 4,250 miles of the interstate system would cost $40.5 billion—or about 63 percent of the $63.7 billion that has been spent to build the first 38,250 miles.

If Adams has his way, those states with missing links would either have to commit themselves to construction by Sept. 30, 1982, or request that their interstate funds be made available for something else.

Under the present dispensation, that "something else" would likely be another freeway, because each state dollar committed to freeways brings in nine federal dollars from Washington. By contrast, one state dollar spent on mass transit is worth only four federal dollars.

Adams, in a major legislative proposal he has sent to the White House for study and possible submission to Congress early next year, would apply the same 90-10 split to mass transit projects, as well as lower-priority highway projects. He would also shift decision-making authority from state highway departments to local governments.

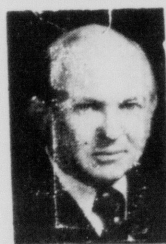

It is expected that both ideas will arouse opposition from the highway lobby. But a lot of people are coming to the belief that if an interstate freeway hasn't been completed by now—work first started on the system back in 1957, remember—then maybe it really isn't needed. Maybe there's a better use for the money. (NEA)

Message on voting not getting across

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

WASHINGTON — In what used to be called "civics," every American school child once was taught the meaning of the right to vote: It was the most precious of our political rights. It was what distinguished free societies from totalitarian societies. It was the very essence of a republican form of government. And so on.

Kilpatrick

A study has just come to hand that prompts a melancholy question: What do they teach in the civics classroom today? What has become of this precious right to vote? Fewer and fewer people seem to care.

The Committee for the Study of the American Electorate, a bipartisan research organization, worked up some figures on some of last month's more notable elections. The analysis covers gubernatorial elections in New Jersey and Virginia; it also covers mayoralty elections in Atlanta, Cleveland, Detroit, Louisville, Minneapolis, New York and Pittsburgh.

The levels of voter participation increased sharply in Virginia. Four years ago, 50.8 percent of the registered voters turned out; last month that figure leaped to 62.6 percent. In Detroit, Minneapolis and New York, gains of two or three points were recorded.

With those few exceptions, the levels of voter participation went down, down, down. For the past two decades, these levels have been going down, down, down. Nothing has seemed to make any difference. Poll taxes were abolished by constitutional amendment in 1964. The Voting Rights Act came along in 1965. Eighteen-year-olds got the vote in 1971. Various states began to experiment with postcard registration and election day registration. The American people, by and large, have responded to these measures — and to many other measures intended to stimulate voting — with a massive indifference.

New Jersey had a hot race for governor in November. Eight years ago, 73.1 percent of the state's registered voters participated. Four years ago, 59.9 percent turned out. Last month saw 55.7 percent.

The municipal declines were as marked. Atlanta turned out 60.9 percent of her registered voters four years ago, only 42.4 percent last month. In Louisville, the drop was from 74 to 46.7. Cleveland fell off from 71.1 to 66.8, despite the interest engendered by the city's ordeal with its public schools.

In New York City, the percentage of registered voters who actually voted for mayor increased from 47.6 four years ago to 49.2 last month, but the gain was nothing to brag about. In 1961, the Big Apple voted 76.2 percent of its registrants; in 1965 the level reached 80.8 percent, and in 1969 a remarkable 81.2 percent — the highest in any of the cities examined in the voting study. What has turned off the voters in New York?

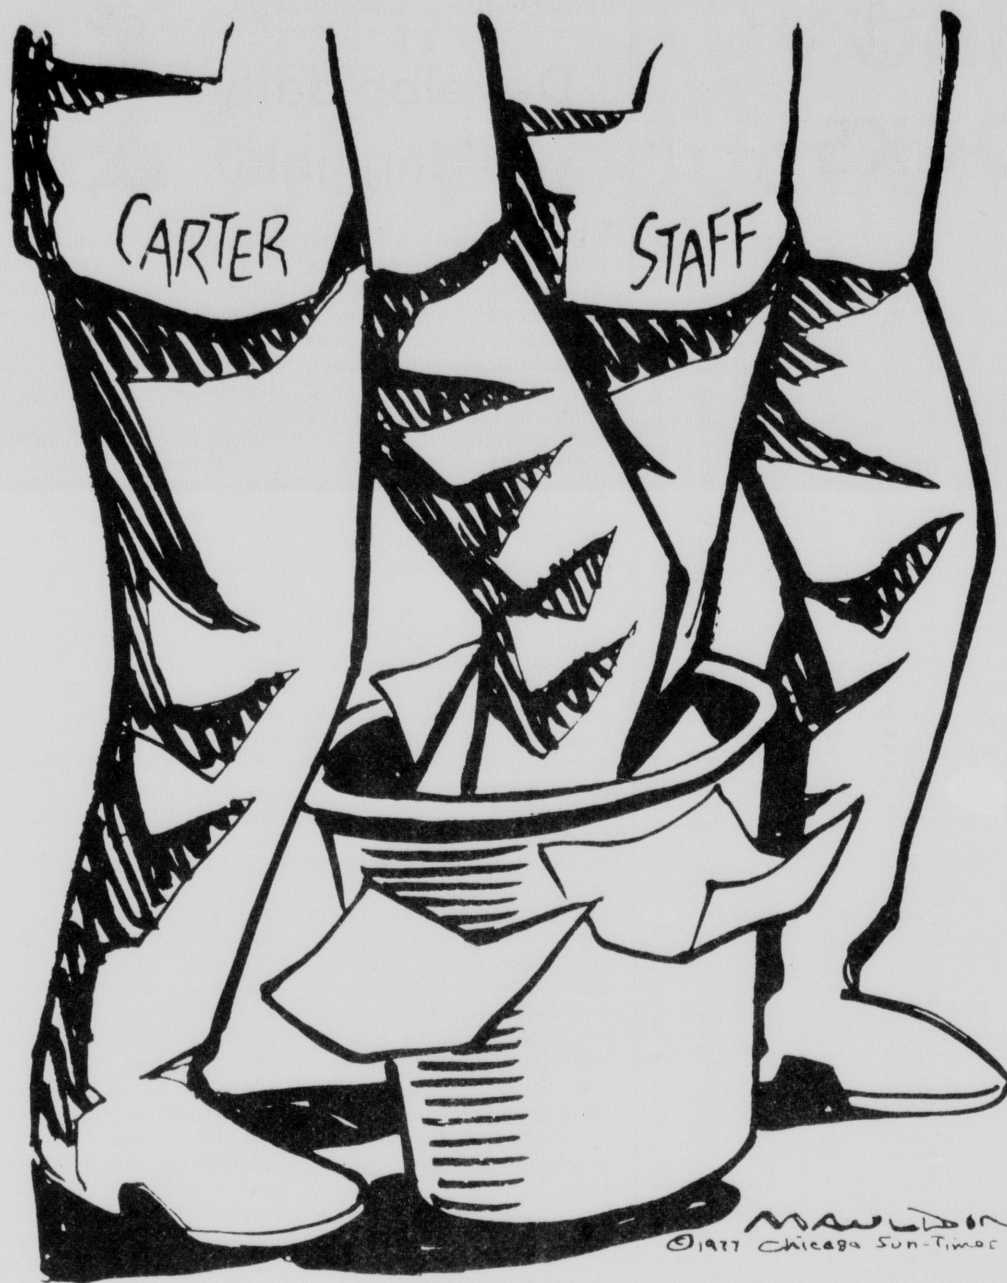

The Committee for the Study of the American Electorate undertook an examination into voter apathy in 1976. That particular survey had to do with the presidential election, but some of the findings may carry over to state and municipal elections as well.

In the Carter-Ford election, it will be recalled, only 54.4 percent of the eligible adults bothered to vote. Put another way, 68.5 million persons who might have voted were no-shows at the polls. Who were those non-voters? A survey found that 74 percent were white, 20 percent were in upper income brackets, 23 percent lived in the suburbs, and a majority were over the age of 35.

Why didn't they vote? The study indicated that 60-odd percent of the non-voters distrust the government in Washington, believe that quite a few of the people running the government are "a little crooked," and believe that Washington "is pretty much run by a few big interests." On a confidence rating of 13 major institutions, the two political parties ranked at the very bottom.

In one view, the low levels of participation might indicate a general public satisfaction with the course of government. After all, when the people are determined to throw the rascals out — or to prevent an especially undesirable candidate from getting in — the people will turn out in droves. That is what happened in Virginia last month.

But I doubt that any such inference of satisfaction validly can be drawn. The trouble is, if I am not mistaken, that the people widely feel that their vote simply doesn't matter. Until they discover that votes do indeed matter, the percentage levels will keep sliding down.

WASHINGTON — The Mob, which once blasted victims with sawed-off shotguns and machine gun fire, may now be using a hit squad armed with quietly deadly .22 caliber pistols. Federal agents and local police in various cities across the country believe the new breed of killers has a score of at least 20 gangland murders on its books.

Among those shot at close range with silencer-equipped .22s in the past two years have been notorious Mob figures of "Godfather" stature. Others were small fry suspected of squealing to the FBI or other law enforcement agencies.

All were shot in the head. In two instances, the same weapon was used, FBI sources inform us. Here is a partial list of the victims:

— Sam Giancana, the 66-year-old Mafia boss who claimed he was retired. He met death from a .22 in the basement of his Chicago home in June, 1975.

— Frank Bompensiero, a San Diego mobster. Known to insiders as Bomp, he was shot in the head and neck last February as he emerged from a telephone booth where he frequently conducted underworld business.

— Tamara Rand, also slain in San Diego in November, 1975. She was an assistant to Allen Glick, a local businessman suspected by the FBI of having organized crime connections. The theory is that she was ready to tell investigators about Mob interests in Las Vegas gambling casinos.

— Jack Molinas, a known gambler and pornography peddler, executed in August, 1975 in Hollywood. Molinas, once convicted of a college basketball fix, was reportedly fingered for cheating a Mob loan shark.

The FBI has assigned top investigative priority to the case of the .22 killers. Agents have held secret meetings in several cities seeking leads, without success thus far. The Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms and local police across the country also are in on the hunt.

We have learned that investigators in New York City believe a new gang, with narcotics connections, may be involved. They are young hoods who call themselves the Purple Gang, reminiscent of the Detroit underworld mob of the same name.

So far, investigators have been unable to infiltrate the new street invaders. But we have learned this about them:

— They are seemingly independent of the established old New York Mafia families. But there is a tenuous link between the young gang and the Genovese family.

— The Purple Gang is notorious for carrying .22s. Our sources say they are liable to kill any time, any place. New York police refer to them as "cowboys" because of their unbridled wildness.

— Investigators believe some of their weapons are .22 caliber pistols stolen in Florida.

Knowledgeable sources told our associate Marc Smolonsky several other theories are under investigation. They stressed that many of the victims were FBI informants prepared to testify about gangland activities. The sources said U.S. Marshals, responsible for witness protection, may have leaked information.

According to another theory, former Green Berets, trained to kill in Vietnam, may be making the hits. It's known, for example, that they used .22s for close-range killing. Still another possibility is that the Mob has imported killers from Sicily to take deadly care of those on organized crime's enemies list.

SOVIET SQUEEZE — Secret congressional testimony has linked a Clark, N.J., shipping firm with a Soviet master plan to undercut the U.S. merchant trade.

With the use of computers, the Soviets allegedly are using cutthroat economic devices to steal cargoes away from Western shipping companies. The Soviets are able to slash prices and grant customer rebates because of the galley-ship wages paid Russian seamen and the Kremlin subsidies that lower operating costs.

The closed-door testimony was taken by the House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee, headed by Rep. John Murphy, D-N.Y. According to the witnesses, the Soviets are "systematically cutting freight rates to establish a carrying monopoly on certain routes."

The witnesses charged that the Soviets control at least a dozen maritime companies around the world on a dummy basis, including two in this country. Only one was identified: Morflot American Shipping, Inc., which conducts business out of Clark, N.J., and operates out of eight other port cities.

Morflot is headed by a former president of a U.S. shipping company. Morflot's $70 million annual business, witnesses alleged with alarm, has a "distinctly Soviet twist." By this, they meant that "Morflot has offered American shippers rates as low as 70 percent below those of privately owned American operators."

This is in keeping with a deliberate pattern contrived by monitoring the flow of ship traffic throughout the globe with computer printouts, the secret testimony contends.

The son of Huey terror

WASHINGTON—The call came in at seven o'clock.

The dispatcher ran over to his chief, "Someone's hijacked the President's energy bill and is holding it as hostage until we give them $40 billion."

Buchwald

"Get the SWAT squad and surround the Capitol," the chief ordered.

When everyone was in place the White House representative said over his loudspeaker, "This is the Carter Administration.

We know you're in there. Come out with your hands up."

"This is the Son of Huey," a voice shouted from a window, "and if you people make so much as a move we'll kill your energy bill once and for all."

"Hold it!" the White House man called. "We're willing to talk. Don't hurt the bill. Who else do you have in there with you?"

"We have some stubborn congressmen from the House, a few bleeding heart senators from the East, whom we have tied up, and we're going to stay here until hell or the country freezes over."

"We don't care what you do to the congressmen or the senators. Just release the energy bill."

The Son of Huey laughed. "You'll get your energy bill, but you won't recognize it."

The White House representative shouted, "How do we know you have the energy bill at all?"

The Son of Huey held up the bill to the window. It was battered and torn almost beyond recognition.

"Here it is. But we're not finished with it yet. Now are you going to meet our demands?"

The White House man got on the radio to the President. "They have your energy bill all right. It's still alive, but just barely. What should I do?"

"Find out what the ransom is for getting it out."

The White House man got on the loudspeaker. "Listen, Son of Huey, we're ready to bargain. What do you want?"

"Now you're talking sense. We want an increase of gas prices to $2.03 as opposed to $1.75 per thousand cubic feet."

"We can live with that," the White House man said.

"We also want the revenues from the new crude oil tax to go back to the oil companies as incentives for drilling new wells."

"But that money was supposed to go to consumers who couldn't afford the high fuel rates."

The Son of Huey held up the energy bill. He had a knife and was about to slash it.

"Wait," the White House man pleaded. "I've got to talk to headquarters."

The White House man reported the demands back to the President. Mr. Carter thought about it for a moment. "He's cutting the heart out of my bill, but maybe we can live with it."

The White House man shouted, "You can have the incentives for the oil companies! Now can we have the bill?"

"Are we talking about new oil or old oil?" the Son of Huey yelled.

"Which one do you want to talk about?" the White House man asked.

"Both. We should get rebates on old oil as well as new oil."

"Okay, you have it. Is there anything else?"

"I want a private plane to take me to Louisiana for Christmas."

The White House man got on the radio to the President one more time.

"He says he'll release our energy bill providing we give him a private plane to take him home for Christmas."

"It's blackmail," the President sighed, "but when the country's only energy bill's life is at stake, what choice do we have?"

If South guesses correctly in either suit he is home. Is South a 3-1 favorite or does he have a sure thing? He has a sure thing assuming East is a reasonably normal bridge player. East has already shown up with king-deuce of spades and king of clubs. He also has 10 red cards. He would surely have opened the bidding with both red aces. Hence all South has to do is to lead toward both red kings. One will win his 10th trick.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

We aren't going to get into the merits and demerits of South's failure to open with a preemptive bid of three spades or his rather optimistic jump to four spades in response to his partner's club opening.

In any event he did bid it and was fortunate enough to get a queen of clubs lead from West. He rose with dummy's ace and East dropped the king. A successful spade finesse enabled South to pick up East's king of trumps and now South was faced with a problem in the answer is that we do so about once every year. We must have 4-3-3 distribution and no decent bid. Maybe:

Ann Landers

Husbands are battered, too

Dear Ann: We have been hearing a lot about battered wives but it now appears that husbands suffer more domestic violence than their mates.

A study sponsored by the National Institute of Mental Health revealed that men inflict more serious physical damage but the so-called weaker sex goes on the offensive much more frequently. Also, it was learned that the number of wives who kill their husbands is just about the same as vice versa. Of the 47 million married couples in the U.S., approximately 1.7 million have gone after each other with guns or knives.

California statistics show that one-third of all females who were murdered were done in by their husbands. Meanwhile, the other coast isn't doing much better. Boston (which is supposed to be the cradle of class and intellectualism) reported that in the Boston City Hospital, about 70 per cent of all assault victims cared for in the emergency rooms were spouses who had been attacked by a husband, a wife or a lover.

How does that speak for a "civilized" society? — Just Plain Facts Ma'am.

Dear Just: Very poorly. I'll bet the animal kingdom is less violent than man's. Can it be that what we call "progress" is actually a step in the other direction?

Dear Ann: What is happening to our country? This story is not made up. It appeared in Time magazine.

A 40-year-old woman admitted embezzling $84,958 from Boston's South Shore National Bank where she worked as a teller. She told the judge she felt "entitled" to the money because she used a lot of it to help right such "wrongs" as financial setbacks suffered by her brother who had seven children and her father whose pension evaporated when the milk company he worked for went bankrupt.

She also felt "entitled" to a $6,000 boat, a $12,000 mobile home, a vacation in New Hampshire (which she paid for with the depositor's money) and a $2,000 loss suffered at the racetrack.

The woman did not go to jail. The judge ordered her to work six hours a week in a Boston hospital for six months. The bank gets the boat and the mobile home and the problem of how to keep other bank employees from exercising THEIR feelings of "entitlement." What do you think of this, Ann Landers? — Justice Where Art Thou?

Dear Justice: I think the same as you. The whole thing smells like a barrel of lost herring. Dear Ann: What can I do about neighbors and relatives who don't even wait for me to answer the doorbell? They just walk in. My husband likes to sit around in his under-shorts, which is OK with me. These uninvited people seem horrified to find a man half-dressed in his own home.

How about supplying me with a jazzy answer to sling back at the intruders when they look down their noses at us? It happened twice last week. — Rosie

Dear Rosie: A lock on the door will work better than a "jazzy" answer. I suggest you try it before a stranger walks in and cleans you out.

CONFIDENTIAL: Should I Go Out on a Limb? Certainly! That's where the fruit is!

It's not always easy to recognize love, especially the first time around. Acquaint yourself with the guidelines. Read Ann Landers' booklet, "Love or Sex and How to Tell the Difference." Season extension details explained

SUMNER — The federal government has approved extension of the Canada goose season in the Swan Lake Zone, here to Jan. 2.

However, Canada geese may not be hunted in the zone on Dec. 9 because of federal requirements in establishing waterfowl seasons. A 10-day waiting period must precede the beginning of new seasons or extensions and the decision to extend the Canada goose season here was not made until Nov. 30, thus necessitating the closure of the Canada season on Dec. 9.

The season was originally scheduled to end Dec. 8 or when 25,000 of the Canadas had been bagged. The zone kill only reached 15,000 on Sunday. Following the closure on Thursday, the season will reopen Saturday and continue to Jan. 2 or until 25,000 birds have been bagged.

The extension is seen as a bonus for both hunters and farmers alike. As one Department of Conservation spokesman noted, hunters will enjoy the longer season and so will area farmers, who welcome the hunters who in turn help keep the geese out of their crops.

Blind reservations at Swan Lake National Wildlife Refuge and nearby Fountain Grove Wildlife Refuge may be made by telephone only for the extended portion of the season. As of last Saturday, hunters should call headquarters at each area between noon and 6 p.m. daily to make reservations. The number at Fountain Grove is 816-938-4124.

The Swan Lake Zone is bounded by Highway 36 on the north, Highway 5 on the east, Highway 240 and Highway 65 on the south, and Highway 65 on the west.

Musial's only holdout netted $12,500 raise

CLEARWATER BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The wave of $2 and $3 million contracts for baseball's free agents strikes an ironic chord in the memory bank of Stan "The Man" Musial, who recalls that he almost blew his career over a $4,000 salary dispute.

"It was in 1947, my first and only holdout," the St. Louis Cardinals' Hall of Famer said over the weekend at one of his three luxury hotels where he was hosting the nation's top men and women golfers in the Mixed Team Championship.

"The year before I was making $13,500 but owner Sam Breadon gave me a $5,000 raise in July — I hit .365 that year when he won the pennant and beat the Boston Red Sox in the World Series. So when the next season came around I decided I ought to get a hike.

"I asked for $35,000. You would have thought I hit Breadon across the head with a baseball bat. He was a tough bargainer. He offered me $21,000.

"He said that was a $7,500 raise. I said it was only $2,500 because he wasn't counting the $5,000 raise he gave me in midseason. We haggled for a month over it. I argued that guys like Joe DiMaggio and Ted Williams were getting $30,000 and $40,000.

"Finally, Eddie Dyer, our manager, stepped in. He asked would I compromise for $31,000. I was tired of arguing, I wanted to play ball. So I said, 'Okay.'"

Musial went on to play 22 years for the Cards, leading the National League in hitting seven times and three times being voted the NL's Most Valuable Player. He was the first NLER to earn $100,000. He finished with a career batting average of .331.

"It staggers me to think of what DiMaggio, Williams, Bobby Feller, Dizzy Dean, Warren Spahn and Sandy Koufax might command on today's market," he mused.

"Double or three times what the guys are getting today."

"Maybe $10 million?" someone suggested.

"Why not?" Musial replied.

Kansas, K-State earn easy wins

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Big Eight basketball powerhouses from the state of Kansas coasted to their fourth straight wins Monday night, warning the other six conference teams they best be prepared when they venture into Kansas.

Other Big Eight teams were idle Monday night.

Sophomore Curtis Redding pumped in a game-high 24 points in Kansas State's 69-55 victory over winless Vanderbilt in Nashville, Tenn.

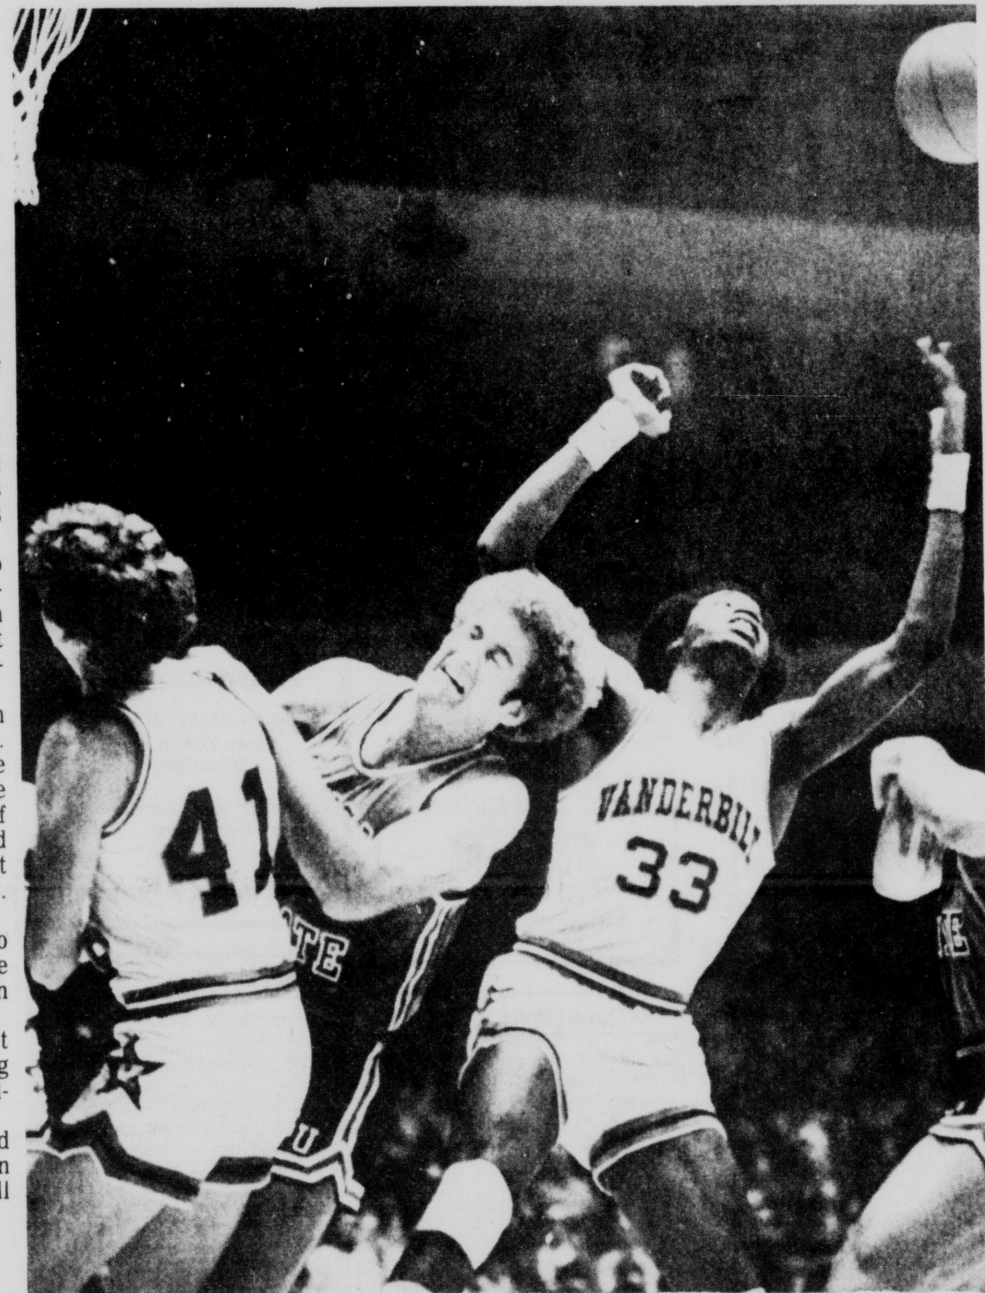

In Lawrence, Kansas surpassed the 100-point mark for the third time this season in downing Murray State 106-71.

Neither Kansas nor Kansas State were ever seriously challenged in the two contests.

K-State dominated rebounding throughout its bout with Vanderbilt and shifted from a man-to-man to zone defense whenever Vanderbilt mounted a threat.

The Wildcats took a 27-14 rounding advantage in the first half and outrebounced the Commodores, now 0-4, 46-36 for the game. Guard Mike Evans scored 21 points, 13 in the second half, and the other guard, Scott Langton, added 14.

Five Jayhawks were in double figures, including Donnie Von Moore with a career-high 22 points. Paul Mokeski added 18 for Kansas while Ken Koenigs and John

Jackie Smith to retire at end of this season

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Jackie Smith, who has caught more passes than any other tight end in National Football League history, will wrap up his 15-season St. Louis Cardinals career after two more games.

"It would be impossible for me to recount everything," the 37-year-old Smith said Monday in announcing his retirement. "I don't know if I'm going out on top, but I believe this team is going to be on top," he added tearfully.

The 6-foot-4 Smith, a former Northwest Louisiana track star, was St. Louis' 10th-round draft choice in 1963.

He snared 56 passes for a team-record 1,205 yards in 1967 and afterward played in five straight Pro Bowls during a string of 121 consecutive games which was interrupted by a knee injury in 1971.

Squeeze play

Kansas State center Dan Hickert is caught between Vanderbilt center Carl Crain, 33, and forward Brian Allsmiller, 41, as they battled for the ball during Monday night's game. K-State posted an easy 69-55 win.

The Joy of Christmas Sharing

Homes for needy animals

"We sell more cats and dogs at Christmas than at any other time," one SPCA worker told The Mini Page.

"We ask parents to bring the kids in to help pick out their new pet," they said.

"We also want to talk with them about how to care for their animals," they added.

Mini Page photos by Ron Howard

The lucky cats in 5A have been sold. Many Americans live in apartments. Small "indoor" dogs and cats are bestsellers at SPCAs and pet shops.

Giving to needy folks

Draw a line to these things in the picture.

A girl puts money into a Salvation Army "kettle" set up on a busy sidewalk. This man plays an accordion. Many ring bells.

Many people give money, toys and clothes and other things to the Salvation Army. The Army is a religious group. The members wear uniforms. The "soldiers" help the poor who need food, clothing and shelter.

Giving toys to little girls and boys

The US Marines, like many other groups, collect toys to give children at Christmastime.

The Marines call their drive "Toys for Tots."

They put barrels at places like fire stations.

People bring in unwrapped new toys. They also bring in used toys that are in good shape.

Sometimes Boy and Girl Scouts help.

The toys are taken to a special place.

The Marines and their helpers sort them based on what age would like them.

Then the toys are given to needy families.

See the barrel full of toys. The drive is put on by the Marine Corps Reserve.

Kids and Christmas Dinner

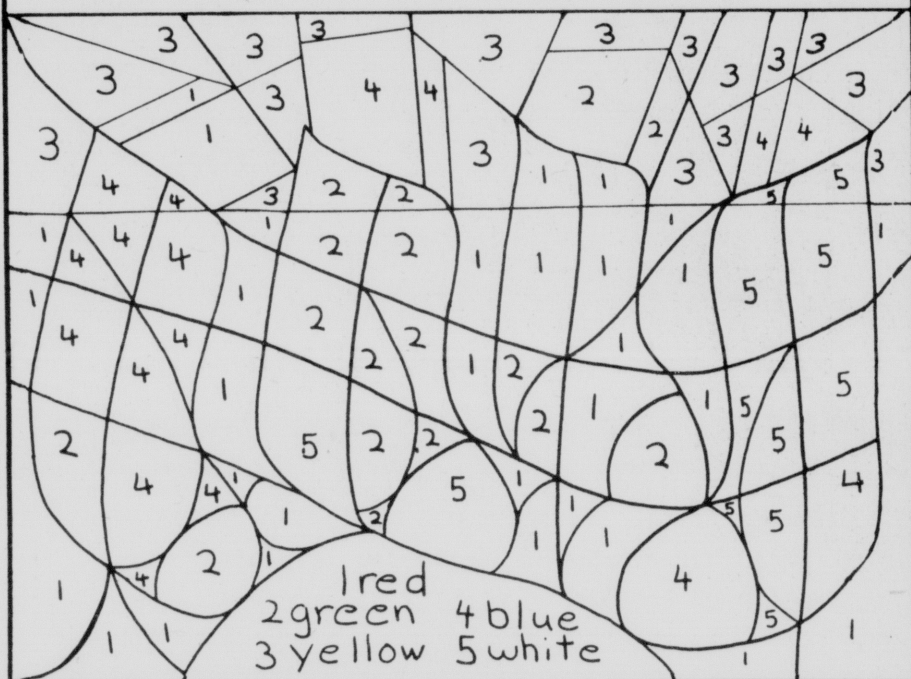

©UPS

The Mini Page asked some second graders to make up a Christmas dinner menu. Here are some of their ideas.

1. "Chicken 'n dumplings, popcorn, pizza, hot dogs, french fries, french toast and hamburgers."
 2. "Two hot dogs with mustard and relish or five pieces of pizza. Barbecued chicken and french fries."
 3. "Turkey, corn, mashed potatoes, string beans, butter beans, rolls and butter, tea with lemon, chocolate cookies, a salad and coconut cake."
 4. "Four small chickens, Christmas cookies, beans, potato chips, squash."
- What would you like for Christmas dinner? Why don't you make out your ideal menu!

Banana Nut Bread ©UPS

This makes a very good gift for the families and older people on your list.

- 1 cup sugar
- 1/4 cup shortening
- 1 egg
- 1 6-ounce size package biscuit mix
- 1/2 cup nuts
- 1 cup mashed bananas
- 3/4 cup water

1. Mix sugar and shortening until they are creamy. Add egg.
2. Add biscuit mix, bananas, nuts and water.
3. Pour into greased and floured loaf pan.
4. Bake at 350° for one hour.
5. Let cool. Wrap in aluminum foil.

Science Mystery ©UPS

PROBLEM: How does sound travel?

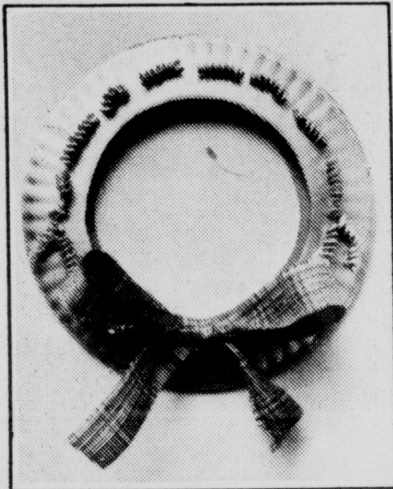

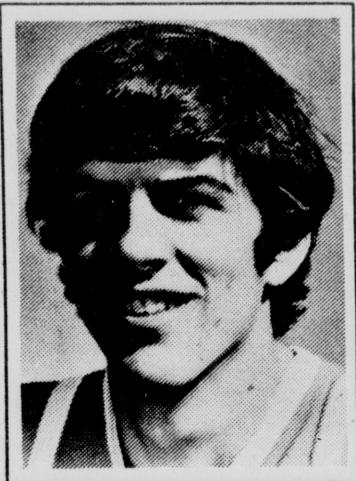

FINDING OUT: Make a string telephone.

- Punch a small hole in the bottom of two paper or Styrofoam cups.
- Push the ends of a string through each hole.
- Use a string at least three times as long as you are tall.
- Tie a knot in each end so it will not pull through.
- Hold one cup up to your ear and have a friend talk into the other end.
- Does the sound travel best with a loose or tight string?
- Touch the string lightly as you talk and see if you can feel it vibrate.

CLUE: Things must vibrate to make sound. The sound vibrations must travel through things (air, string, wood) to your ear.

©UPS

Last season, he won $10,000 for his outstanding play. He gave the money to churches and charity.

1. Cut center out of paper plates.
2. Staple them together.
3. Glue on fancy macaroni.
4. Spray with gold paint.

How Can You Tell It's Christmas?

The Mini Page asked some kids to give us their ideas.

"People start selling and buying trees."

"The calendar says December 25."

"We sing Christmas songs."

"Mom won't let me in her room."

"Mom starts making cakes, cookies and candies."

"We have a Christmas play at church."

Candy canes are a sure sign of Christmas.

Merry Christmas to Zoo

The barnyard exhibit at the Indianapolis Zoo. This year's Christmas at the Zoo will be held December 9 through 18.

Indianapolis, Indiana— What do you do at a zoo at Christmas time?

Here's what they do at the Indianapolis Zoo.

They hang thousands of strands of lights.

They hang giant stockings by a huge fireplace for the giraffes.

They fill straw hats full of goodies for the animals.

They open a "Zoo-tique" (zoo-teek) where they sell handmade gifts.

They play holiday music.

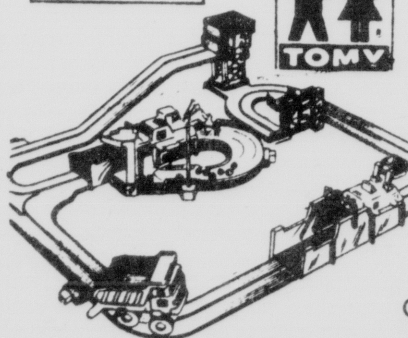

People pay money to come. The money raised is used to help the animals.
